

The image features a complex abstract design composed of several rectangular blocks of color and thin black lines. A large, solid red vertical rectangle occupies the left side. To its right is a large, dark green textured rectangle. Further right, a thin black vertical line runs down the page. Below the red vertical rectangle, there are smaller red and dark green blocks. A horizontal red band spans the width of the image, containing the text "quill and blade" in a dark, sans-serif font. Below this band, there are more red and dark green blocks, and a thin black horizontal line. The overall composition is geometric and minimalist.

Verna Mae Hoke, November 15, 1882—September 25, 1964, was born in Silver Lake, Indiana. Her mother dying soon after her birth, she was reared by her maternal grandparents. She received her education in a local elementary school, and the Warsaw High School, graduating at sixteen. After graduation, Miss Hoke took the state teachers' examination and made the highest score ever achieved in Indiana.

Teaching in the Warsaw area, she attended Manchester College and finished her bachelors degree at the University of Southern California while living with her father and stepmother. After receiving her degree, she became principal of a grade school in Anderson, Indiana. And at the close of World War I, came to Gary where she first taught math and spelling at Emerson.

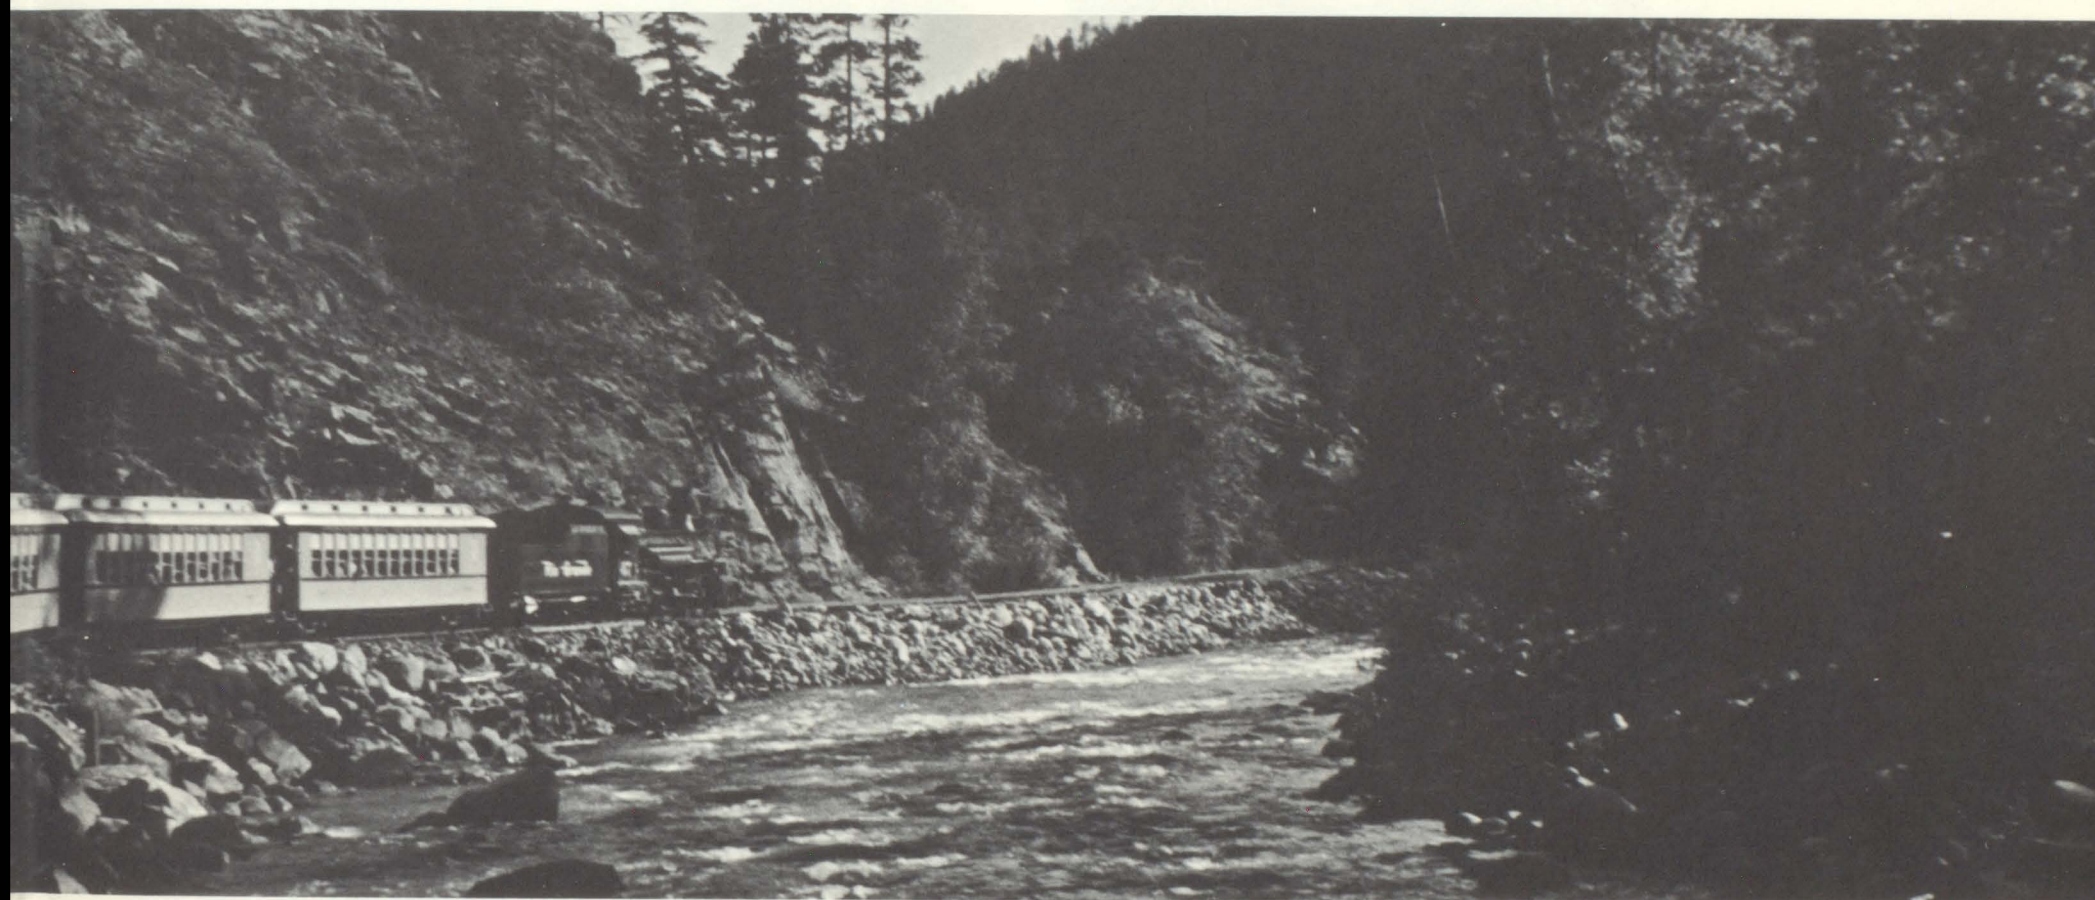

Mr. Wirt appointed her principal of Glen Park School in 1921, principal of Franklin in 1923, and principal of Lew Wallace in 1927. She was the only woman principal of a secondary school in Gary. Under her guidance the east wing of the main building was constructed and in 1932, Wallace became a Senior High School and graduated its first class.

She worked constantly to improve the status of the teaching profession in Indiana. She lobbied in the state legislature for teacher tenure and retirement laws. In addition, she was one of the founders of the School Womens' Club of Indiana. Governor Townsend recognized her abilities and appointed her to the Indiana State Board of Education.

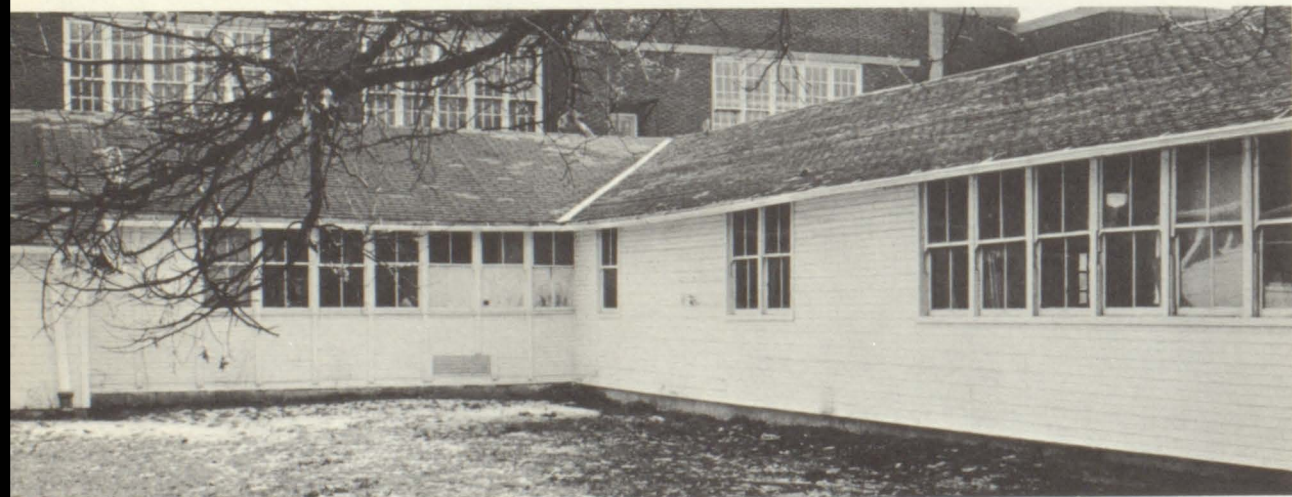

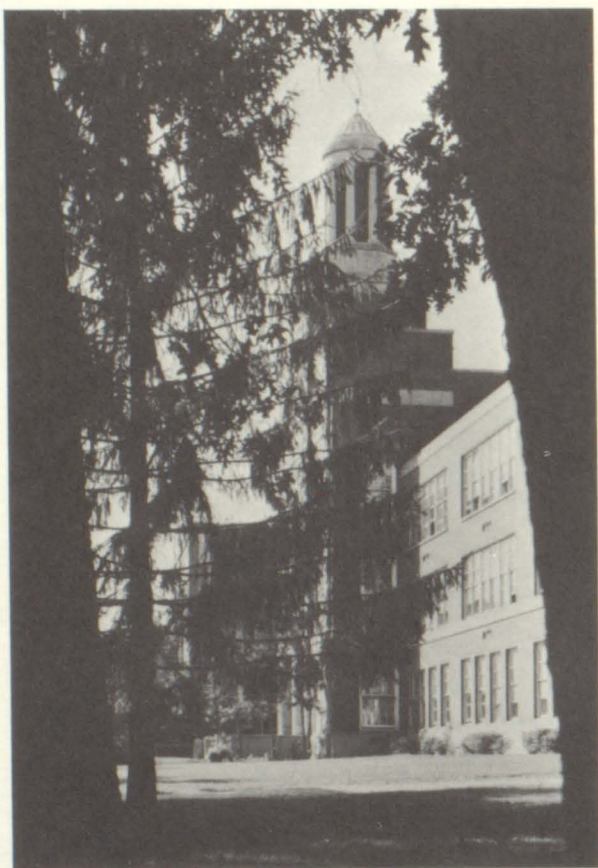

Miss Hoke was a talented administrator and disciplinarian. She took a personal interest in her pupils and teachers and served her community well. She believed extracurricular activities served educational purposes and that only the best should be exhibited. As an example of her concern for her pupils, she originated an all girls' club for the purpose of including all girls in activities and seeing that none were excluded. Miss Hoke had the respect of students, parents, and colleagues. In her personal and professional life, she combined her perfectionist standards with a strong feeling of justice. Miss Hoke expected the best, and gave the best of herself in return.

Mrs. Martha Clemens, reading lab instructor.

Sophomore English teachers are Mr. Jack Chidsey, Mrs. Judy Chidsey, Miss Beatrice Sandles and Mrs. Eleanor Chabraja.

Sophomore, Mike Konicki gives an oral report.

English teachers, Mr. Richard O'Curran, Miss Dagna Simpson, Mr. Charles Chase, and Mrs. Betty Yorko.

Mrs. Mercedes Graham, librarian, confers with Mr. Edwin Carmony, Supervisor of Instructional Materials Services.

Students spend many hours studying in the library.

Grammar, literature, and composition are offered on all levels. Freshmen study grammar as well as reading such classics as COVERED WAGON, IVANHOE, and GREAT EXPECTATIONS. Freshmen students who take reading lab find that in just six weeks they have increased their reading speed and comprehension.

After a study of biographies sophomores try their hands at writing a biography, their own. Shakespeare is introduced to them through his play, JULIUS CAESAR.

Stacks of books, hundreds of note cards, outlines, rough drafts, and typing all night can only mean one thing to juniors, term topics. Juniors are required to study American short stories and poetry as well as GIANTS IN THE EARTH.

MACBETH, TALE OF TWO CITIES, and English short stories and poetry are read by senior English students. Students write many compositions hoping that practice makes perfect. Advanced Placement students are given a chance to study composition and literature in more depth.

Speech and drama classes help students to develop self-confidence and poise. Students participate in oratorical contests, debates, and plays.

Mrs. Hester Courtright and Mrs. Kathryn Welsh, junior English teachers.

Dennis Sobat makes up an English test.

Linda Lesniak hurries to finish her composition.

Mrs. Mary Frances Busby

Senior English

Senior English teachers are Mrs. Clarissa Miner, Miss Evelyn Parnell, and Miss Angela Hannagan.

Miss Parnell discusses THE MAYOR OF CASTERBRIDGE with her A.P. English class.

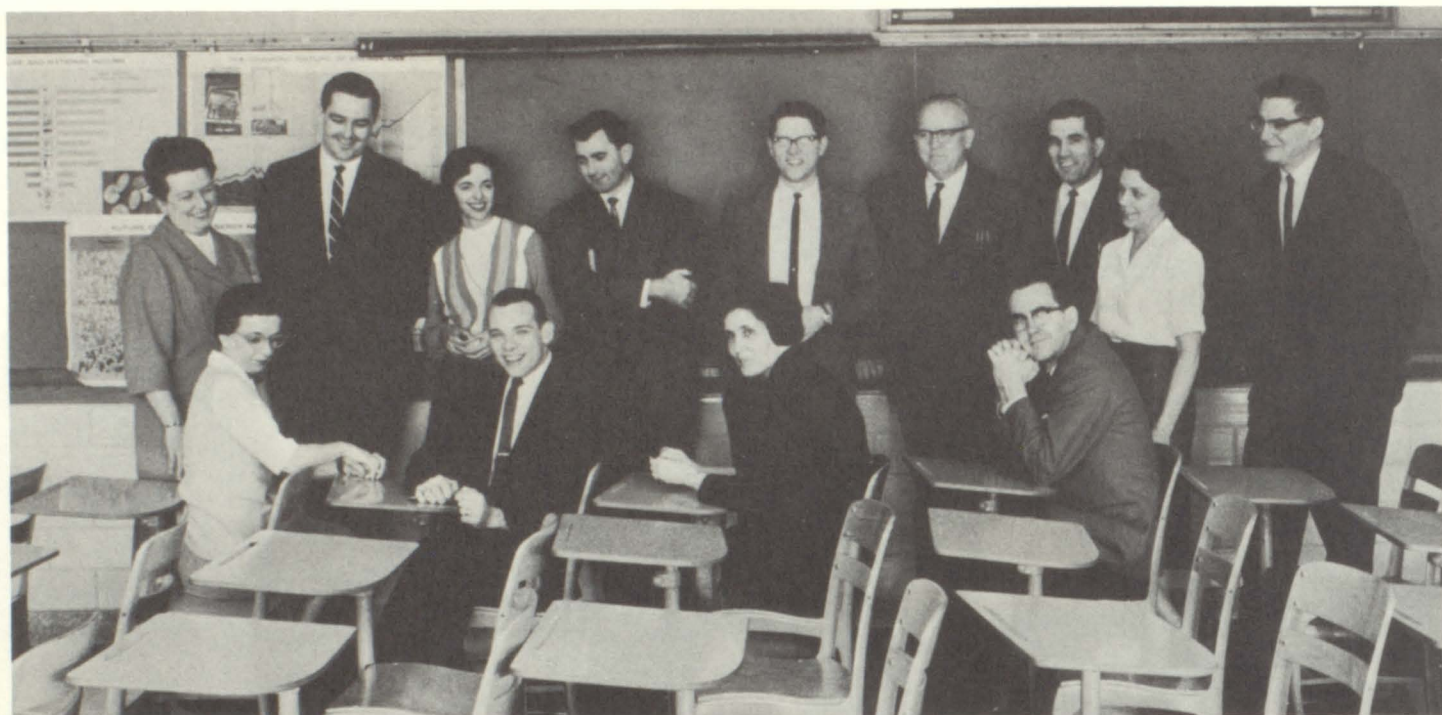

Mrs. Elsie Shelbourne, secretary, and Mrs. Faustine Jones, librarian.

Mr. Jones lectures to his U. S. History class.

Social studies teachers include, First Row: Mrs. Lillian Roberts, Mr. John Russell, Mrs. Betty Buhner, and Mr. Herman Shelby. Second Row: Miss Shirley Bryan, Mr. Keneth Chaney, Miss Dorothy Kouvelas, Mr. Thomas Carpenter, Mr. Howard Jones, Mr. Willis McAllistor, Mr. Elmer Molchan, Mrs. Patricia Barnes, and Mr. Paul Pieroni.

social studies

Kim Maple mulls over a civics question.

A knowledge of the past and an awareness of today's history making events are stressed by the social studies department.

Two one semester courses are offered to freshmen, World Geography and Community Civics.

Sophomores study world history starting with the ancient Greeks and continuing through the present day.

The historical life of our own country is studied by juniors enrolled in U.S. History.

Economics and Civics, requirements for graduation, are studied by all seniors. Economics is a study of how our free enterprise system operates. Civics is the study of our constitution and of how our government operates at all levels.

World Problems is a course concerned with the problems faced by all of the countries today. These problems are analyzed and discussed by the students taking this course.

Heredity, behavior patterns, mental health and many more topics related to an understanding of human behavior are studied by psychology students.

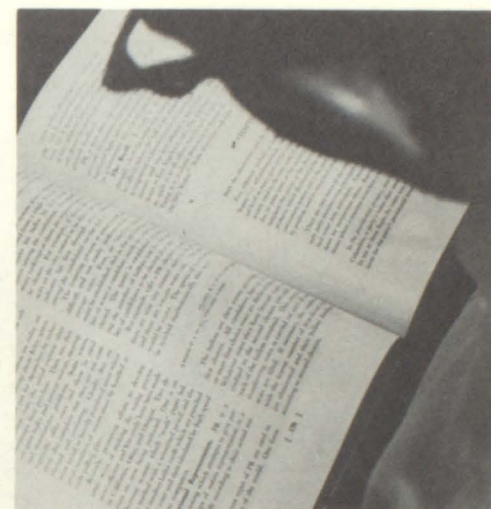

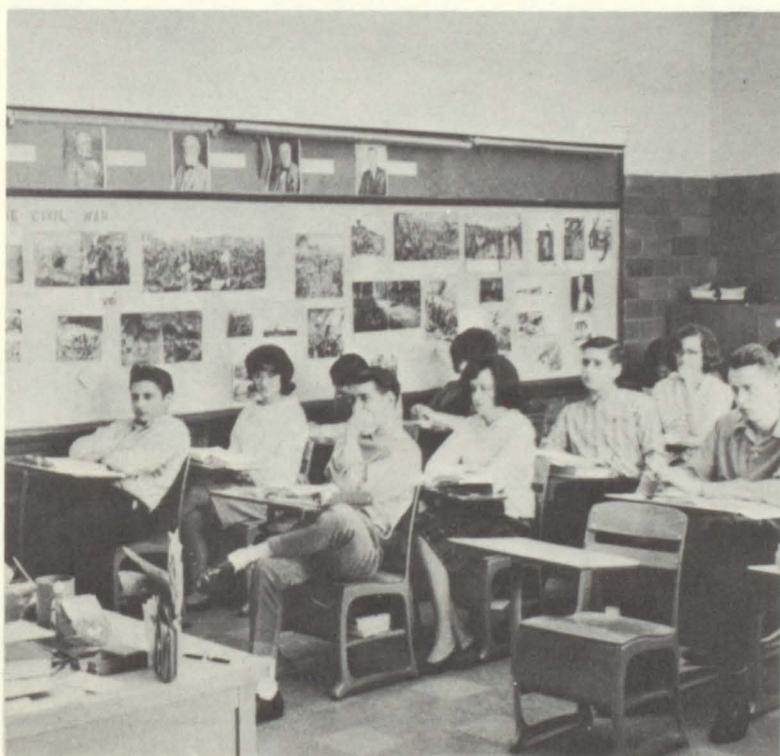

Miss Shirley Bryan

Mr. Shelby leans back and relaxes between classes.

Outside reading is a must.

U. S. History students study the Civil War.

Mr. Kenneth Chaney leads the discussion.

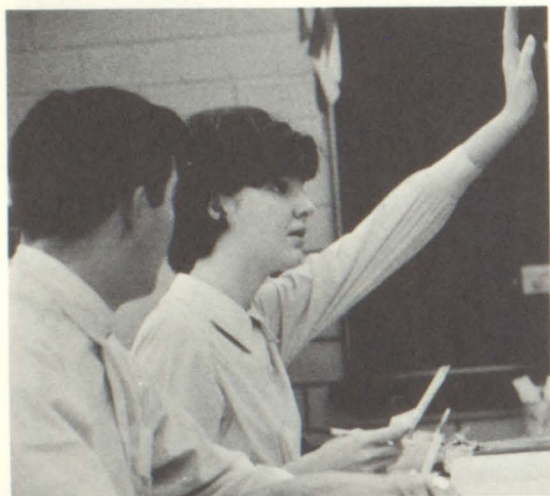

R.O.T.C. Sgt. Darryl Kinder

Films are an important teaching aid.

Combined effort.

Senior applied mathematics was offered for the first time this year.

New textbooks by Dolciani were used this year. Modern Algebra was used in one Algebra I class and in Modern Algebra. Trigonometry, Book II was studied in Algebra IIX classes. The Dolciani Geometry was also used in one Geometry class.

The math department offers two sequence courses, one of which is college preparatory. Four units of work are available in the college preparatory program. Math classes for those who do not intend to go to college include Applied Math, Applied Math X and now, Senior Applied Mathematics.

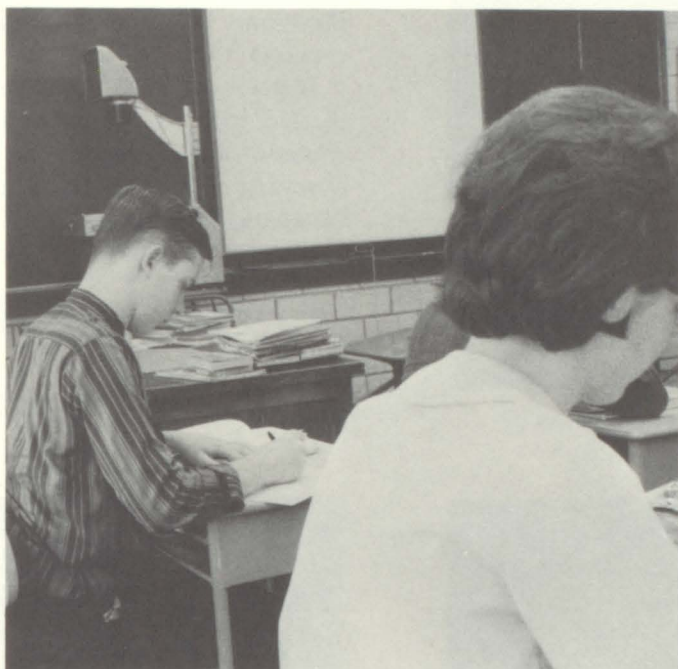

Members of the math department are J. Conlon, O. Leskow, E. Bohlen, G. Orlich, A. Gwinn, D. Boose, W. Mills, H. Rzepka, J. Hill, and D. Rendo.

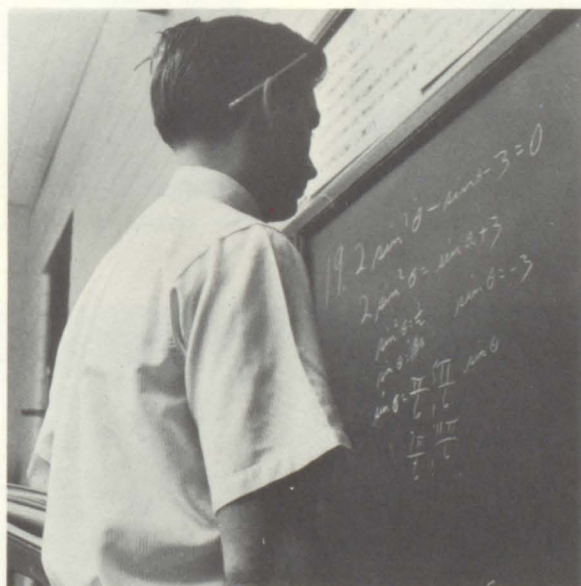

Jim Quantz is so entranced by his math problem that he's falling asleep.

Mr. Ernest Verb's class discusses the parts of a flower.

biology

Mrs. Sarah Boyajian discusses nutrition.

Mr. Donald Dyman teaches bio-physics.

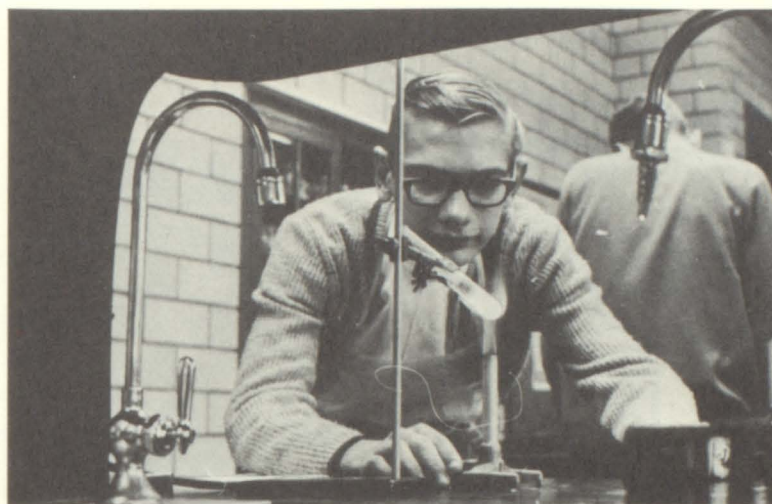

Miss Lola Lemon lectures on the parts of a fish.

An advanced course was also taught in the Biology field. Students were able to learn from experiments with (the raising of chickens, planaria, Drasophila and the study of heredity characteristics in guppies).

Regular Biology students are confronted with the problems of dissecting animals, identifying insects and plants, operating microscopes and learning how the human body functions.

chemistry

Looks like this one will work.

Mr. David Schoon, chemistry

What do we do now?

How in the heck do you work this darn thing?

Chemistry, a course in the properties and compounds of elements, also offered an advanced course this year. The students studied varied and advanced methods of qualitative analysis.

Making chlorine in the lab is only one of the numerous experiments done by Chemistry students. Balancing equations, analyzing the chemical composition of compound substances and learning the periodic table of elements are just some of the things that keep the Chemistry students busy.

Mr. S. Keller helps Bob Vittitoe solve a metric problem.

physics

An Advanced Physics course was taught for the first time this year. Only two seniors were in this class.

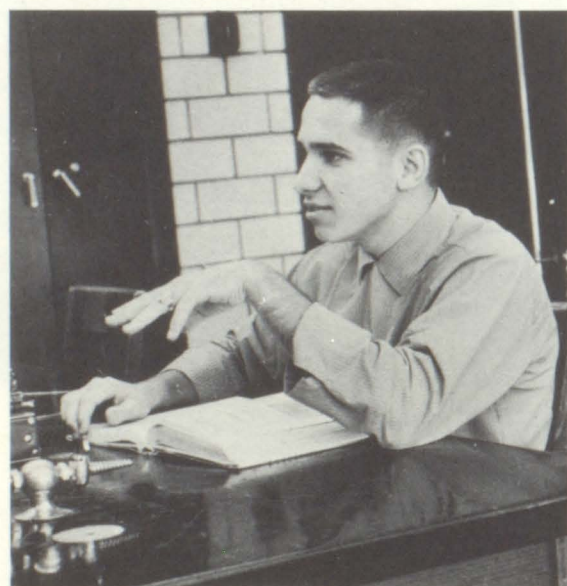

New textbooks which covered advanced topics in PSSC Physics material were used. This Physics program concentrates on a limited number of related and sequential topics including matter, time, space, light, motion and the nature of electrical forces and energy. It stresses understanding rather than memorization and employs extensive laboratory experimentation.

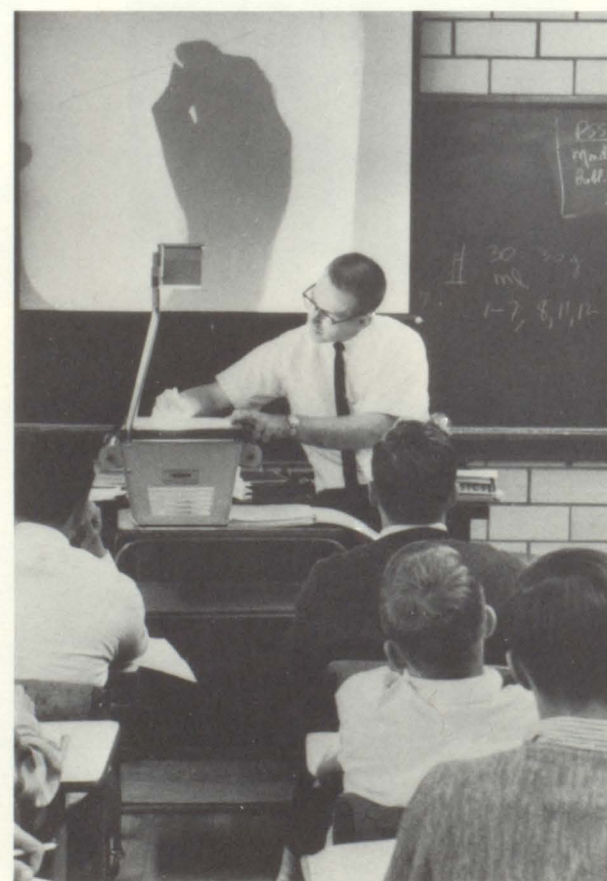

Allen Eng seems to enjoy physics.

Don Vodonovich measures a rubber band in an acceleration experiment.

Carl Martikean asks a question.

Mr. Robert Manwaring answers Carl's question.

foreign language

German II was offered to the student body for the first time. This course is taught by Miss Marlis Tippet.

The first two years of study of a foreign language are concerned with the fundamentals of grammar, vocabulary, and conversation. Those who continue in the language go on to an extensive study of the country's literature and culture, as well as the language.

As a result of her high score on the French examination given by Indiana University, Amy Pruitt won a ten week trip to France. She was the first Lew Wallace student to win such an honor.

Many modern teaching aids are available to the foreign language students. These aids are the language-lab, language records, tapes, films and filmstrips.

business

A variety of courses are open to those students who plan to enter the business world after graduation.

Shorthand and typing courses are very necessary to those who plan to work in an office. Each of these courses are offered for two years. Students are taught correct office procedures. Speed, accuracy and efficiency are the goals these students are working toward.

Bookkeeping students learn the fundamentals of bookkeeping and accounting. Students learn how to add long columns of figures quickly and accurately. By working out extensive problems, students learn how to keep a complete set of books.

Students who are enrolled in Distributive Education are taught the techniques of selling. After obtaining sufficient knowledge from class work, discussions and projects, students are placed in jobs so that they may put their knowledge to practical use.

General Business students cover all phases of business in general, while Business Law students are taught fundamentals of law as applied to business.

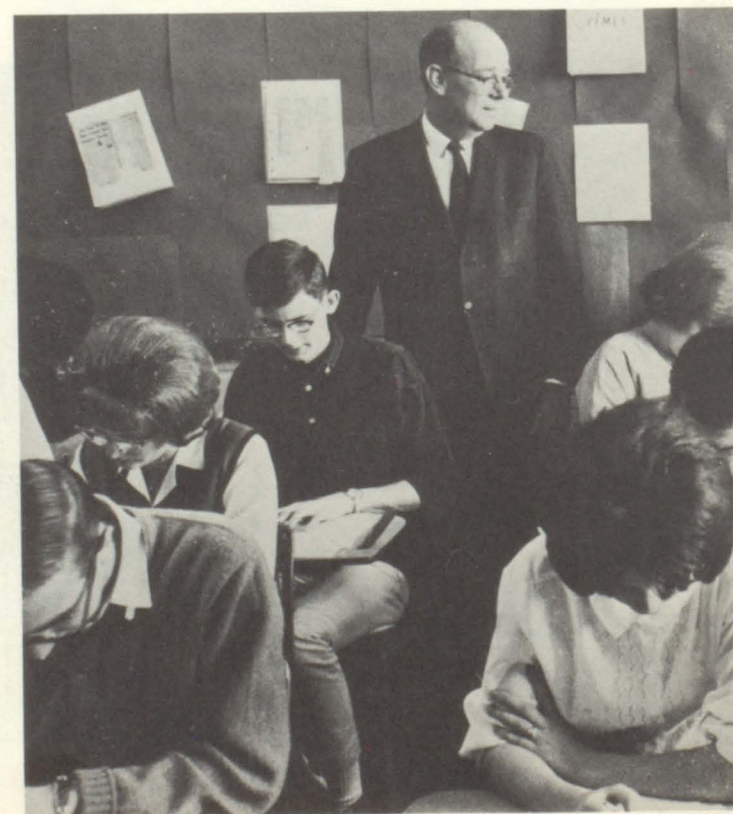

Mrs. Ann Joseph smiles as she works.

Miss Ann Novak dictates to her Shorthand I class.

Mr. Nick Sweigart patiently watches over his typing class.

Mr. Robert Yates answers Carol Lopez's question.

Mrs. Elizabeth Speck and a pupil discuss her work.

asdf kl; asdf jkl;

Mr. Michael Vietti and Mr. James Fallace teach D.E.

Mr. Alfred Fissinger directs the concert choir.

Courses in art, music, photography, and radio are offered by the Fine Arts Department.

Art students are able to enroll in several different art courses. Special courses offered by the art department include commercial art and handicrafts. Art students are taught to appreciate good art and are also encouraged to develop their own creative talents.

Band, orchestra, and the choral groups make up the music division of the Fine Arts Department. Band students play during halftime at all of our home football games. Orchestra students give an annual spring concert. The choral groups sing at Vespers, put on a musical in the spring, and take part in music contests.

Photography students learn how to use a camera correctly, to take good pictures, and how to develop and print them. Photography II students serve as staff photographers for the yearbook.

We are the only Gary high school which has its own radio station. WGVE gives students the opportunity to study all phases of radio work. Students act as announcers, disc jockeys, writers, and directors. WGVE broadcasts all of our home basketball games as well as educational programs, plays, and musical programs.

Mr. Clarence Day

Mrs. Esther Kay

Miss Mary Sharp

Physical education, safety, health and drivers' training are offered to all students.

Physical education, a required course, enables students to develop skills and interests in various sports.

Safety, a state requirement for graduation and health, teach students when to apply first aid, and develop quick thinking and actions which are so important when caring for an injured person. They also learn the location of the five pressure points, the application of bandages to different types of wounds, methods of administering artificial respiration and home safety precautions.

Courtesy, good judgment and the fundamentals of safe driving are but a few of the principles acquired by students taking the four week driver training course. Student drivers, under the guidance of an instructor, have access to automatic and standard shift cars.

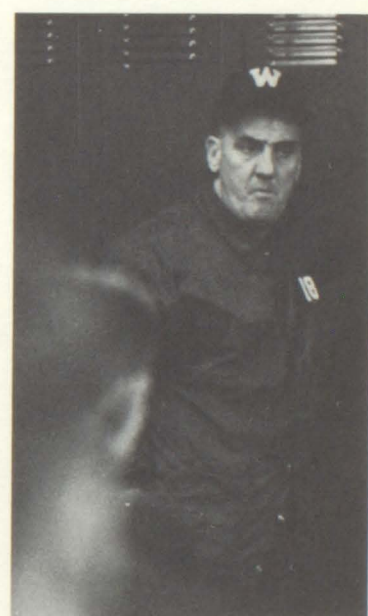

All of these courses are an important part of our curriculum, for they lay the foundation for the building of better citizens.

Girls who take home economics learn practical skills that they will be able to use in their homes.

Clothing offers girls the opportunity to learn fabrics, the selecting of patterns, current fashions and to sew their own clothes.

Girls in cooking classes mix and measure, plan a well-balanced diet and observe the rules of etiquette.

Home nursing students learn to care for the sick at home. They make various types of practical sick room conveniences from cardboard boxes, tin cans and newspaper. They decorated them with colored paper or water colors.

Modern living students learn about household problems and child care.

Home economics students had an opportunity to see a fashion show, with Lew Wallace girls as models, presented by the Simplicity Pattern Co. A representative from McCall Pattern Co. presented another program on fashion line, color and design.

industrial arts

Dennis Mahns and Dan Taylor offer Matt Renner some helpful advice.

For the first time electric shop was offered to boys in the curriculum of Lew Wallace. The course enabled the boys to learn various electrical skills.

Other shops include wood, metal, print and crafts.

Varied objects from cabinets to tables are made by the boys in wood shop.

Print shop students spend their time diligently working on signs, programs, posters, calendars, game schedules and commencement programs.

Blue prints are planned and drawn by the steady and exact hands of future engineers and aero-mechanics.

Students in all of the shops have an opportunity to learn vocational and technical skills. The boys are not only able to learn the correct operation and use of different types of machinery, but also have an opportunity to assume responsibility in the care of the shops.

Mr. Harold Deverick

administra - tion

Our principal, Mr. Donald T. Torreson, puts in a busy day in his office on the second floor. Mr. Torreson works with his faculty to provide a well rounded curriculum and to insure the highest academic standards. He is responsible for seeing that our school is run smoothly and efficiently.

Mr. Alfred Smith, assistant principal, spends most of his time working with us students. He listens to all of our excuses, explanations, and reasons concerning our tardiness, homework, and cut classes.

If you need to know where someone or something is, just ask one of the secretaries. If they don't know, no one will. Neither the faculty nor the student body could get along without their help.

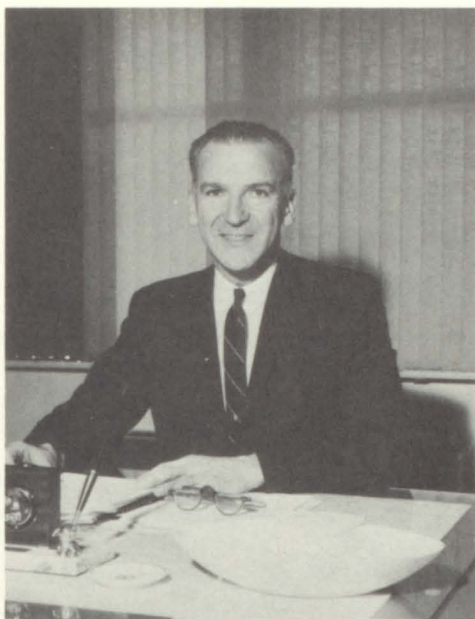

The office staff includes, left to right, Mrs. Leona Gordon, Mrs. Erma Minninger, Mrs. Margaret Mackely, Mrs. Eileen Vance, Mrs. Wanda Nawrot, Mrs. Ethel Skinta, and Mrs. Genevieve Bulot.

Mr. Donald T. Torreson, principal, and Mr. A. E. Smith, assistant principal.

Dr. Lee Gilbert, Superintendent of Schools.

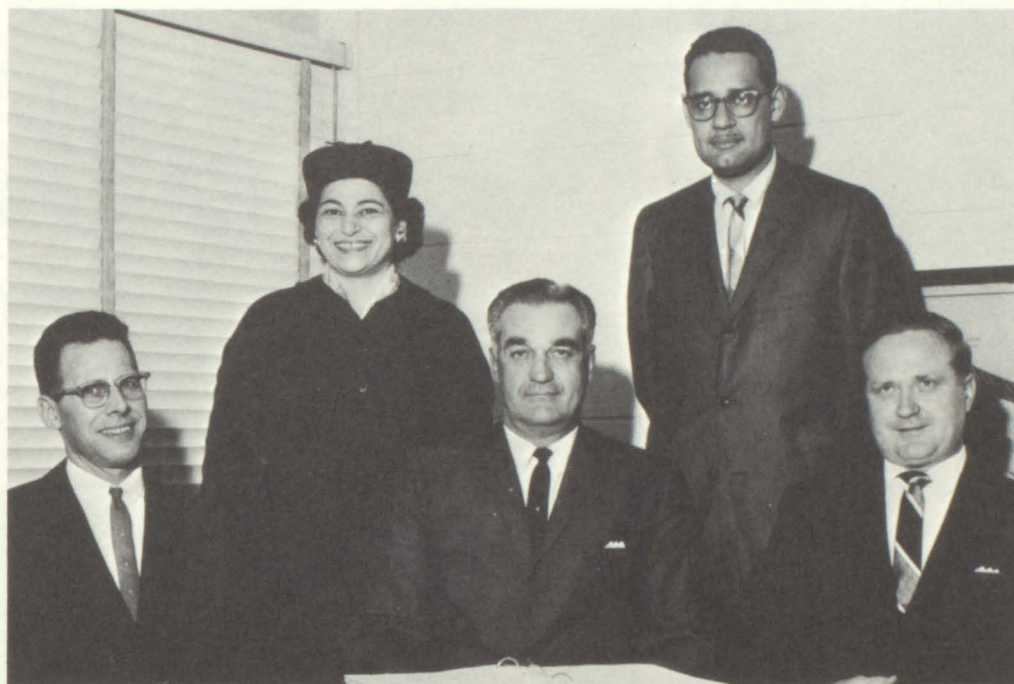

An extensive program of secondary education is offered in the Gary Public Schools to aid in providing an opportunity for each student to have educational experiences in accordance with his needs.

Dr. Lee Gilbert, Superintendent of Schools, guides the proceedings and deliberations of the school board. He also recommends actions to be taken.

School board members direct the educational program of our schools. They are responsible for employing and discharging all school personnel. The location, architectural design, and equipment for new schools are decided on by the board. The school city budget must be approved by the board.

The counselors work with the students and parents in interpreting the curriculum and other aspects of the school program. Each student is scheduled annually for conferences with the counselor to plan programs of studies. Interests, school marks, results of standardized tests, tentative goals and other items of information are used as aids in developing plans.

This year the nurse administered TB tests to all students. Her duties include administering first aid, testing eyes and ears, and keeping the student health records up to date.

School board members include, left to right, Dr. James F. Wygant, treasurer; Mrs. Dena S. Adams; Mr. Andrew D. White, President; Mr. Alfonso D. Holliday, II, and Mr. John F. Gutowski, secretary.

valedictorian

Charles Birdwell attained a better than "straight A" average with an index of 4.1861. This is the highest index ever achieved at Lew Wallace.

Chuck has participated in many activities during high school. This year he was elected as Senior Class President and president of Senior Honor Society. Other activities he has engaged in are Olympians, Biology Club, Chess Club, intramural basketball, Lew Wallace Student Council and Intra-City Student Council.

In addition to his long list of activities, Chuck has received many honors. He was given the Latin, English and Biology awards as a Freshman, and as a Sophomore received the Chemistry award and placed second in the state Latin II contest. Last summer he attended a scientific research program at Purdue and is now enrolled in a math program at I.I.T.

After graduating, Chuck plans to attend the University of Chicago and become a research physicist.

salutatorian

John Shinovich ranked second with an index of 4.1321.

"Doc" has been active throughout his school career by participating in clubs and sports. He has earned letters in football, baseball, and basketball. Presently he is president of Club "W" and Senior Class Vice-president. Last year he was Junior Class President and vice-president of Club "W". In addition to these, Doc was initiated into Junior and Senior Honor Society and represented Lew Wallace at Boys' State.

John plans to begin his pre-med studies at either the U.S. Naval Academy or the University of Delaware.

The Joe Berg Advanced Study Seminar is a city-wide organization. There are about twenty-five Lew Wallace Juniors and Seniors participating in this program.

The students meet twice a month at their various seminars. Some are held at Horace Mann High School, Andrean High School, and others at the Northwest Campus of Indiana University. In addition to the separate seminars, General Sessions are held every two months. Guest speakers are employed for these sessions.

This year the Joe Berg Seminar is offering a chance for its members to go on several field trips. Argonne National Laboratories and the various Gary Steel Mills are to be visited. The seminars that Wallace students participate in are Contemporary American Literature, Chemistry, Biology, Psychology, French and Spanish.

The Girls' Club's main purpose is as a service organization. The bi-monthly Faculty Teas are an example of their service.

A Potluck dinner and stag dance before Christmas Vacation are among their social events. Along with these are the Senior Reception, The Girls' Club Sing in March, and the annual Turnabout in the spring. As a service to the community, this club went caroling at the Lake County Convalescent Home and helped to initiate the Miss Verna Hoke Memorial Fund Drive.

Guiding the girls as their sponsors are Miss Dorothy Kouvelas, Mrs. Judy Chidsey, and Miss Anne Novak.

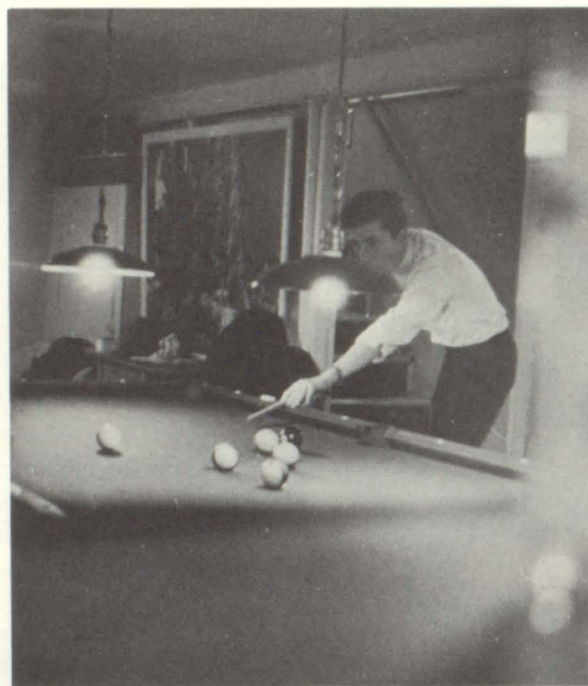

Cheerleaders lead girls during the Chocolate Chat.

Mr. Elmer Molchan, sponsor of the Boys' Club, aids the members by helping them to attain their goals of creating more school spirit, expressing their ideas and views, and exercising leadership and responsible citizenship.

The Lew Wallace Boys' Club provides a wide variety of activities for its members. One of these activities was a stag dance on October 30. In addition, they have a cheering block for school games, a bowling league, and a billiard tournament. Attendance at professional football, hockey, and college football and basketball games complete their agenda.

booster club

Keeping school spirit high by cheering at games is an important job of the Booster Club.

Homecoming was made even more exciting by the efforts of this club in the Pep Rally the night before and the decorating of Gilroy Stadium for the big game. Also a large paper football made by the members was held by the Senior Girls for the team to run through.

Many long hours were spent in the preparation of the decorations for the annual Booster Club Turnabout on January 22. This year's dance was named "Blue Hawaii."

olympians

Meeting

The main objective of the Olympian Society is to promote an interest in classical studies.

Among the many activities planned, was the Saturnalia (Christmas Party), held at the home of Mrs. Mary Shelgren, the sponsor. To complete the year, a party was given and a Latin scholarship presented to a deserving student.

The Olympians annually attend the city-wide Latin Conference held at a high school in the area.

Coach Ed Herbert sends Tom Herbert into the game with some new strategy.

A crowded stadium, cheering spectators, and two teams competing on the field below. This was the scene at Gilroy Field as the Hornets worked toward gaining the title of conference champions. The team, under the direction of Coaches Ed Herbert and Larry Martin, shares the conference title with E. C. Roosevelt.

This was an unexpected event for Coach Herbert who at the beginning of the season expected only a .500 season mark. Despite injuries and an inexperienced line the Hornets buzzed to a 7-1-1 record. Coach Herbert credits the success of the team to the leadership of the seniors and unexpected accomplishments of the line and backfield.

The team had many outstanding players who were honored by being named to conference and city teams or given honorable mentions in these same ratings. Jim Quantz and Louie Lindinger, seniors, and Don Gatch, junior, held positions on the conference team, while Jim, Louie, Don, and George Kos were elected to the city team.

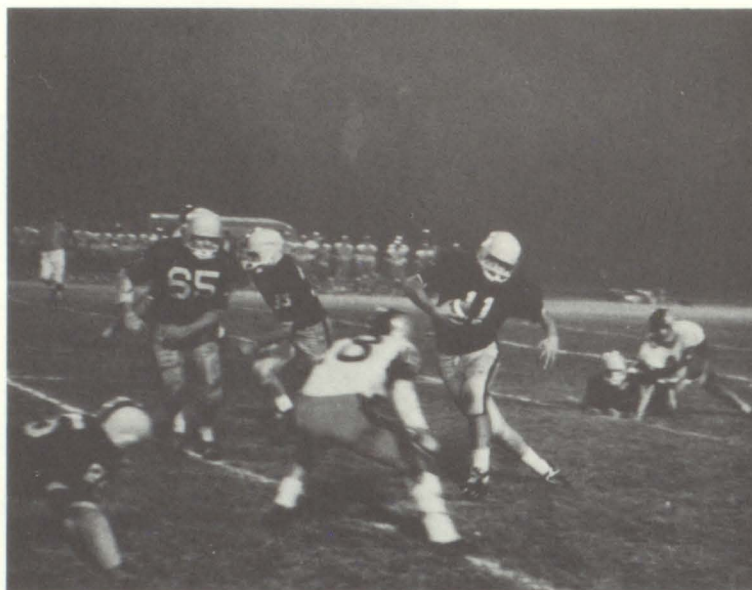

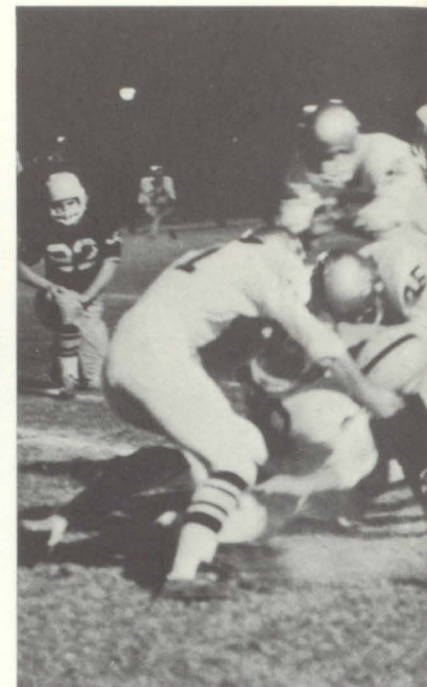

Tom Thomas sprints through the Valpo line as Don Gatch runs interference.

Don Gatch is downed by a Froebel Blue Devil.

Skip Lazzaro dodges a would-be tackler as he penetrates deep into the opponent's territory.

It took more than one player to down the mighty Hornets.

Louie Lindinger takes a breather during half-time.

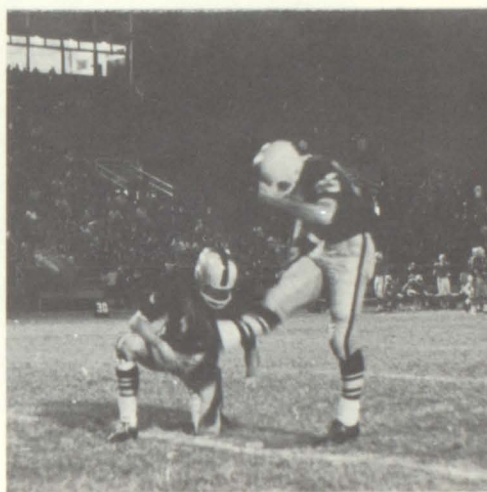

Players listen intently as Coach Martin outlines strategy for the second half.

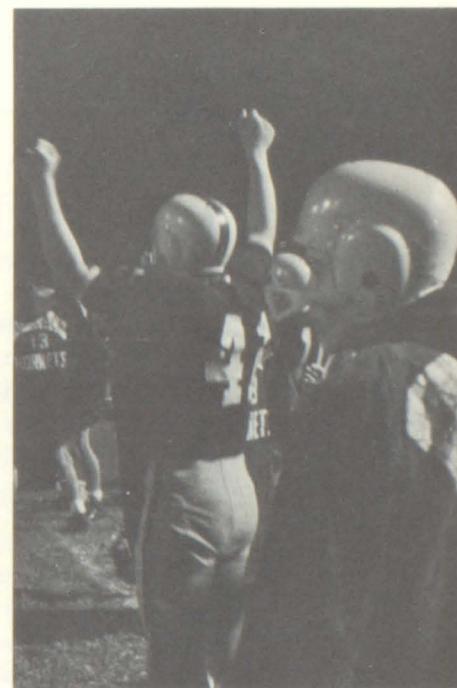

Six points are added to the Hornet score as the ball is carried across the goal line.

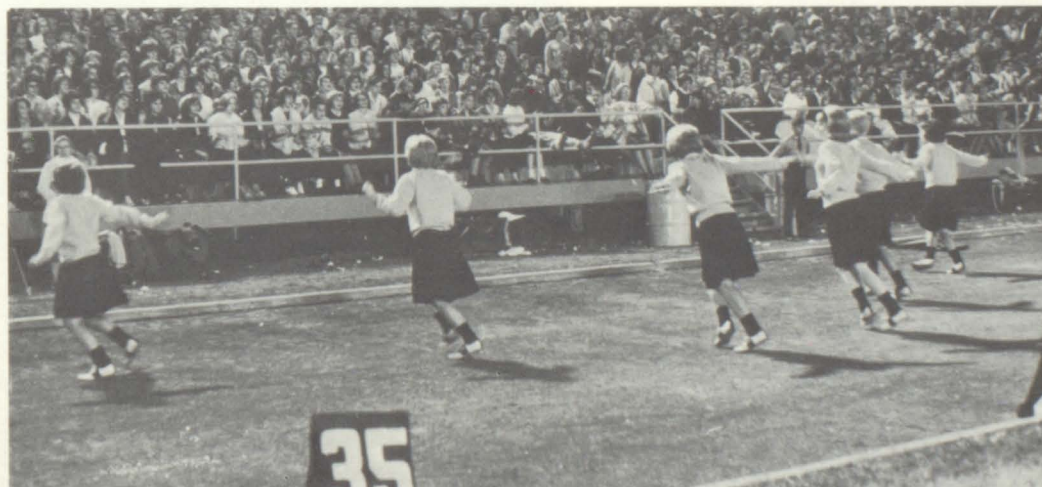

The kick is good as George Kos makes that valuable extra point.

Jubilance reigns among the players on the sidelines as they watch their teammates on the field.

The band falls into formation to provide the half-time show.

"B-E-A-T, beat em" shouts the cheering block to the boys on the field.

reserve football

A share of the city championship title and an unbeaten record highlight the reserve football team's past season. The reserve's record consisted of six wins and only one tie. The tie resulted after a hard fought contest against Horace Mann which ended in the final score of 7-7. As a result of the tie Lew Wallace and Horace Mann became city co-champions.

Sophomores and juniors composed the team which played their games on Saturday mornings. Under the direction of Coach Larry Martin the boys learned new plays and football techniques.

According to Coach Martin some excellent material will be available to next year's varsity squad from this year's reserve team.

The reserves endured many rough skirmishes on their way to becoming city champs.

The squad goes through a pass play under the watchful eyes of the coaches.

Calisthenics are an important part of training.

Freshman gridders gained experience through hard practice.

"All the boys did a fine job." This was the comment made by freshman football coach, George Rykovich when asked about the accomplishments of his freshman team this past season. Though the team did not have a championship season, the boys displayed a willingness to give their opponents a good fight.

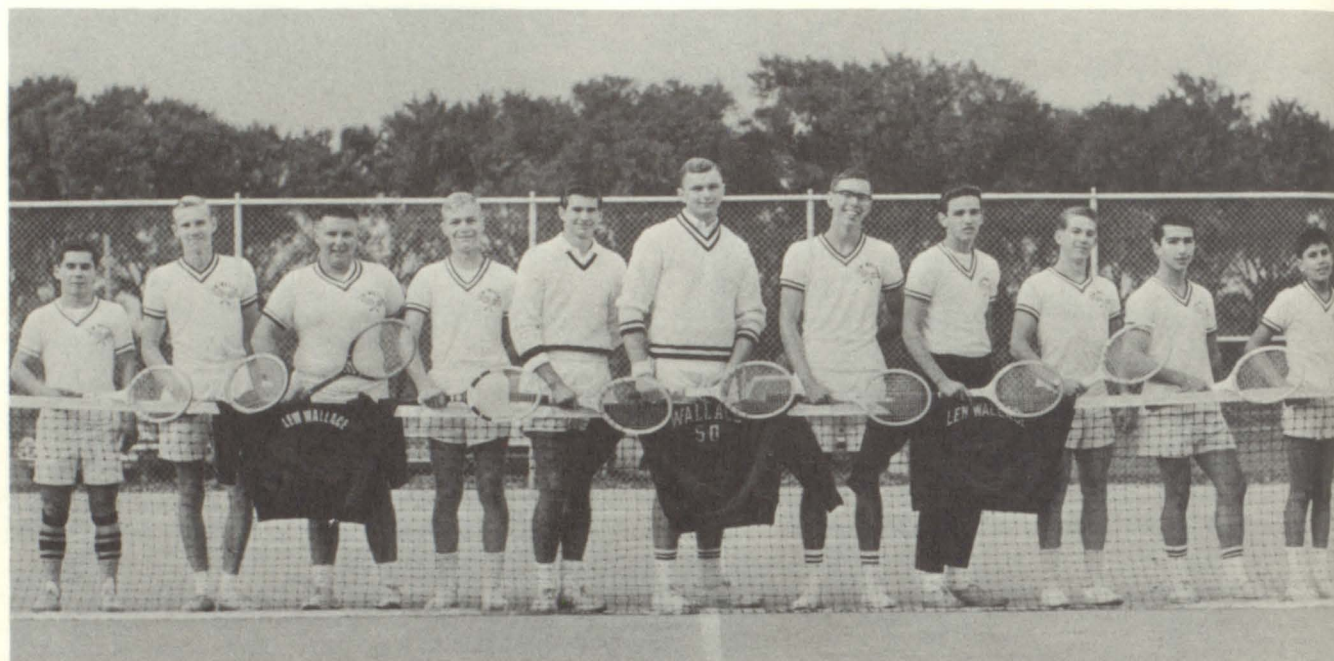

This year's team was fairly large compared to recent squads, having fifty boys on the team. The boys learned the basics in football competition and gained experience for future seasons. Games were played on Saturday mornings before the reserve games.

The freshman gridders ended their season with a 3-4-0 record. They succeeded in defeating Roosevelt, Froebel, and Horace Mann.

Coach Clarence Day, tennis coach, welcomed back a whole team of returning lettermen this season. Three seniors, Dave Fesko, Bob Sheptak, and Leigh Yarnold, were included in the eleven man team. With this experienced team back on the courts the netmen streaked to city and conference championships. Dave Fesko came from four games behind against Horace Mann to clinch the city title.

All home matches were played on the courts at Gleason Park during the regular season which lasted from September until November. Leigh Yarnold and Bob Sheptak were the team's undefeated doubles players while Dave Fesko was the team's singles champion. In the Spring the team will compete in the state meet at Culver Military Academy. Two juniors, five sophomores, and one freshman compose the remainder of the team. With these returning netmen the future looks promising for another championship team.

cross country

Gary Heid leads the field as he crosses the finish line.

Tom Slama vies for position as the pack begins their two mile run around the course.

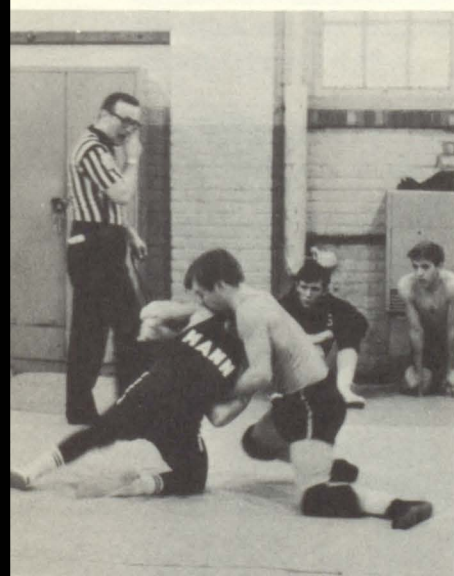

Long hours of hard practice and determination are essential in competing in wrestling and cross country.

September saw the beginning of supervised practice for the harriers under Coach Michael Jennings with ten lettermen returning to run the two mile course around Gleason Park. To get in condition the boys practiced running in the halls, around the balcony, and around the course at Gleason.

In season competition the harriers outdistanced Whiting, Hammond Tech, and E. C. Roosevelt. The '64 season ended with Wallace coming in twelfth out of twenty-five in the Sectional meet at Hobart in November.

As the cross country season ended practice for the Wallace matmen began with seven letter winners returning. The boys worked on calisthenics and body building exercises in preparation for their meets. Coach George Rykovich coached the boys on effective holds, takedowns, and pins.

Collectively the team won only two meets but several of the boys ended the season by winning various honors. Joe Krol wrestled his way to a conference title and Rick Sepkowski became Sectional champ in their respective divisions.

Pat Madison struggles to pin his opponent and gain points for the team.

Intramurals gives all boys a chance to participate and compete in different sports activities with their homerooms. Taking on the responsibility of scheduling and organizing the many different activities is Coach Richard Polk.

In the early Fall the program began with flag football competition and a Turkey Trot where the individual winners received a turkey, duck, and chicken for Thanksgiving. Next came the swimming program where the boys competed in relays, individual races, and diving. A round robin basketball tournament kept interest high during the winter. The tournament ended in a nip and tuck battle between homerooms 94 and 70 for the championship. Following the basketball tournament, a free throw tournament was staged. As the warmer weather arrived, intramural competition in softball, handball, and horseshoes were sponsored by Coach Polk.

A successful season was experienced by the '64-'65 mermen as they swam to a 10-4 season record and a second consecutive city swim championship.

In the city swim meet our mermen scored a total of 65 points against Horace Mann, Roosevelt, Froebel, and Wirt. Our mermen took first place honors in eleven events and set new city records in eight of these.

As a result of many hours of hard practice two swimmers repeatedly took firsts in their two events. Juniors, Jim McNiece and George Foley were often double winners in the 60 and 100 yard freestyle and the 200 and 400 yard freestyle races respectively.

Coach Edward Troy put the team of thirty-five boys through their paces during practice every night after school.

Bob Wareika awaits his chance to pass the ball to George Kos.

Sectionals provided a refreshing change for the cagers who finished their regular season with a 2-16 season mark.

Wallace drew the Ingots of River Forest as their first opponents in the '65 tournament. The Hornets held a small margin against the favored River Forest team until the end of the fourth quarter. With a little over three minutes left to go the Ingots knotted the score. As the clock ticked away the last seconds of the game, the Hornets bounced back to take the victory. As a result of his performance in tournament play, George Kos was named to the first string of the Sectional team.

In regular season play, the cagers succeeded in downing only Horace Mann and Hobart. George Kos was the only starter who had had extensive game experience, but as the season progressed potential began to show in the underclassmen players. Sophomores Joe Bravo and Steve Zakula proved valuable to the team while gaining experience for future seasons.

Varsity cheerleaders Rita Banks, Cheryl White, Cindy Bulza, Cindy Dimitroff, Mary Ann Thompson, and Barb Razus begin a cheer in their new uniforms.

Records do not always tell the complete story and in the case of the reserve basketball team this is true. Though the team finished its season with a 3-14 record, the desire to win and potential for future varsity cagers were always present. The boys showed steady progress as the season wore on while Coach Bill Kukoy helped them in perfecting old plays and learning new ones. The team prepared for each game by practicing nightly in the Bailey gym.

Several of the boys were cited by Coach Kukoy for their performances during play. Dave Shelbourne was the most improved player while Aris Psimos and Tom Mandon were good scorers and playmakers. Gene Marks was a steady performer and Tom Jadrnak came through for the team at the end of the season.

Tom Jadrnak leaps to tap the ball to Dave Shelbourne or Gene Marks who are waiting for the tip-off.

Twenty boys composed the freshman basketball team which finished its regular season with an even record of fourteen wins and fourteen losses.

The team was divided into A and B sections to accommodate all of the boys wanting to play. These future reserve and varsity cagemen practiced daily in the main gym to improve their co-ordination and learn fundamental plays under the watchful eye of Coach Clarence Day.

Games played against city teams were played on Saturday mornings while all others were played on various evenings. Center, Alan Milgi, scored a total of 276 points for the season to become the team's top scorer. These freshmen hold potential which should prove valuable to future reserve and varsity teams.

The upcoming season looked promising for our golf team as our linksmen tried to gain their ninth consecutive city championship title as they took to the golf course this spring. The linksmen won in the city meet held at Gleason Park last year with a team score of 329.

Golf coach, William Mills, had five senior lettermen and one junior letterwinner back and was confident that the team could better last year's record. In conference play Wallace placed third last season. The linksmen's home course is at the Turkey Creek Country Club golf course where they practice and play all matches.

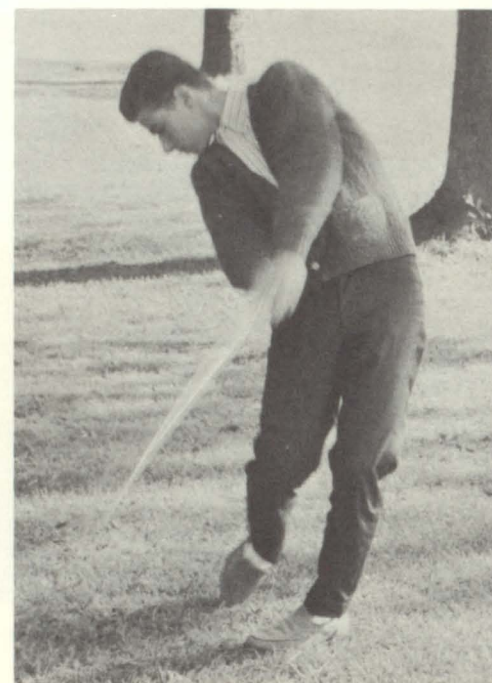

To become a member of the golf team a boy must attend the initial meeting called by Coach Mills at the beginning of the season. Teams are selected from this group of boys who are interested in this exacting sport.

track

Early practice began in the halls for the cindermen.

Cindermen run their many laps around the track.

Coach Troy coached the boys in the gym as well as on the track.

Tom Thomas develops shot put skills before the season begins.

Tom Slama runs the low hurdles during practice.

Under the direction of Coach Ed Troy and assistant coach Michael Jennings, the cindermen began training in February for their upcoming season which lasted from March to the end of May. Due to the cold weather the boys got in condition for the Gary City Indoor Meet, their first season competition, by running in the first floor halls and exercising in the main gym.

Fifteen lettermen returned to this year's team while forty-five freshmen started their first year of running track. These experienced lettermen and the upcoming freshmen are expected to boost both the reserve and varsity records by winning at least half of their conference meets. Besides the different distance runs, other events include the pole vault, hurdles, and high jump.

The beginning of March not only brought cold winds, but also, practice for prospective baseball players. Early practice proved fruitful last year as our batsmen won the city championship title and were able to compete in the conference play-offs.

In baseball the Northwestern Indiana High School Conference is divided in two sections, the East and the West. In the play-off games our batsmen represented the East while Hammond represented the West. The team winning two out of three games would become the champions. After the second game the Hornets were defeated by a score of 5-6.

Thirteen members of last year's varsity squad returned to the diamond this spring. With such a large number of experienced players, the baseball future looked bright for Coach Larry Martin's Hornet batsmen.

Wallace engages in eight conference games and ten non-conference games during a single season, with all home games being played on the main field after school.

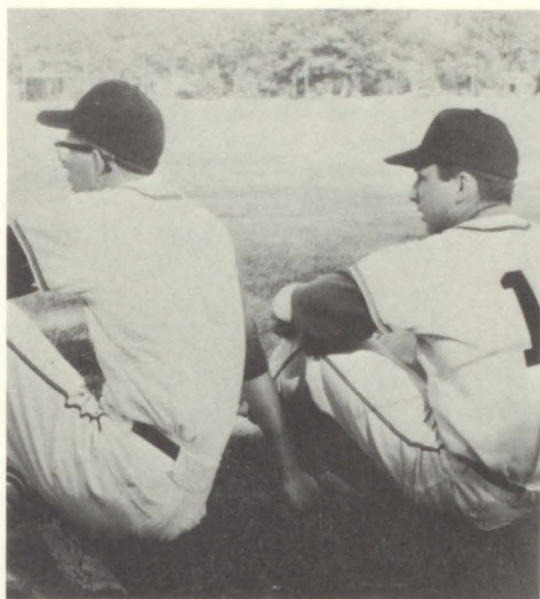

As his teammate hits a long drive another Hornet batsman warms up to go to the plate.

John Hady returns to first base on advice from teammate, Steve Kulavik.

class of '65

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS—Charles Birdwell, President; Mary Vassallo, Secretary; Barbara Sackman, Treasurer; John Shinovich, Veep.

Our last football season, being the “big” sisters during Freshman Week, and the new and harder classes combined to begin the final phase of our high school education. Now our classes and activities had more meaning for us because they were our last and this was our year.

The first months, filled with the excitement of the election of our class officers, homecoming, and the championship football game against South Bend Riley, brought us quickly to our first senior function, the Senior Reception on January 28. Soon afterwards, came the production of the Senior Play, Good-bye My Fancy.

Academically we were exposed to widely varied fields. In our Civics and Economics classes we studied the complexities of the country's governmental and economic systems. Trigonometry and physics completed our studies in advanced math and science while second year studies in business courses prepared us for competition in the business world. In English we studied the works of Shakespeare and Chaucer in Macbeth and the Canterbury Tales. We discussed the human mind and behavior in Psychology.

Still, the big moment was yet to come. As we ordered our calling cards and invitations and were measured for our caps and gowns we realized that we were actually seniors and the big day was not far off. With the satisfaction of a job well done we saw our classmates accept awards and scholarships on Activity Day, attended the Senior Luncheon, and participated in Baccalaureate services. We will always remember the magic of the night of May 14, the Senior Prom, and the fun-filled day afterwards.

Finally the day we have been working toward for twelve years draws near—June 4, Commencement. As we walk across the stage and receive our diplomas we look to the future and what it holds for us with confidence and know that we must now face a world of greater dimensions than we have known.

As upperclassmen, the class of '66 successfully met the challenges and responsibilities of high school life. We began to take an active part and gain experience in athletics and club activities. Our first duty was to nominate and then elect capable class officers. Some of us were honored by being inducted into the Senior Honor Society.

In fulfilling our academic requirements we traced the heritage of our country in U.S. History classes. Giants in the Earth and Our Town were read in English class while we spent many long and tedious hours in libraries writing our term topics. Adventurous students in the class enrolled in Chemistry, Algebra II, and Advanced Placement History courses which introduced us to new concepts in these areas and kept us busy.

In preparation for our main social event, the Junior Prom, committees were organized early and worked diligently all year long. Many hours of hard work and the cooperation of many students raised the money necessary to cover class expenses by selling gas tickets at the Clark Service Station and through basketball games between members of the faculty and our class.

All of our hard work and anticipation were rewarded on the night of our first class prom on May 29. As this event brought our social year to a close we knew that next year when we returned we would return as seniors.

No longer "little freshmen," we became confident sophomores, facing new and different phases of school life.

We became involved and assumed offices in more extra curricular activities. In sports, many of us gained valuable experience on different teams. Some of us even made varsity teams. We also selected four students to serve as our new class officers and then attended the class meeting they planned for us.

In the course of study we read William Shakespeare's Julius Caesar and put in writing, the histories of our lives in our autobiographies. In geometry we struggled through countless proofs and memorized the many theorems, while in foreign language classes we worked hard to learn the different verb tenses. The histories of many countries were set before us in World History class.

In the early part of the year a ring committee was formed to select the style of our official class rings. Finally, in March, the long awaited moment arrived when we ordered our new rings. We selected the ones we liked best from a selection including the mother of pearl, blood ruby, Tahiti smoked pearl, and the traditional black onyx stones.

The big social event of the year was our class party in May. Many of us worked hard on various committees to make the night a success.

As this year comes to a close we look forward to receiving our class rings and becoming upperclassmen.

class of '68

As we entered our first year of high school in new and different surroundings we were greeted with a week filled with activities planned for us. We attended assemblies which acquainted us with school procedures and during Freshman Week the girls found their senior "big sisters" and went with their "sisters" to the different activities staged for them.

The newness of our surroundings soon wore off and we settled down to business. We nominated and then went on to elect our first class officers. The boys began training in different fields of athletics and we had our own teams in football and basketball.

In the field of academic study we enrolled in a wide variety of classes. A butterfly collection and the dissection of frogs were projects in biology. Some of us followed Richard the Lion-Hearted through the story of Ivanhoe while others studied Charles Dicken's Great Expectations. Algebra and Latin required our deepest concentration while some of us began our business training by taking General Business.

As the year ended several of us won honors in English, math, foreign language, and other subjects on Freshman Activity Day. We had had to make a major adjustment in this, our first year of high school and we tried our best to make this adjustment. Next year we will no longer be "freshies" but competent sophomores ready to face the challenges in our remaining three years of school.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS—Margie Rudic, Secretary; Maryanne Minarich, Treasurer; Dave Dzunda, Veep; Walter Vann, President.

The Optimist Creed

PROMISE YOURSELF

To be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind.

To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet.

To make all your friends feel that there is something in them.

To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true.

To think only of the best, to work only for the best, and expect only the best.

GLEN PARK OPTIMIST CLUB

“Friend of the Boys”

To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own.

To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.

To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile.

To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others.

To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

As you leaf through the pages of your new, and in many ways different, Quill and Blade the many experiences you had alone and those you shared with your friends will be brought to mind. It is a panorama of our school year presented in a modern, and we hope refreshing, style.

We on the staff have spent many long and tedious hours to present you with this book. Though we worked long and intently we feel that we have achieved our goal—that of giving you your best yearbook yet. The '65 Quill and Blade.

Colophon

The 1965 Quill and Blade has been produced by Wm. J. Keller Inc. of Buffalo, New York, utilizing their improved Keller Velvatone Lithographic process.

The paper is Mohawk's 80 lb. Anniversary Text printed in black ink. The end sheets are 65 lb. Hammermill Cover and embossed.

The cover is Dark Gray Bradford Linen, embossed and two colors—yellow and black—applied

This issue has been printed in an edition of 1750 books, 192 pages and the size is 11 x 11.

As you leaf through this book it is evident that hard work and the cooperation of many individuals was required and we are indebted to each and every one of them.

We wish to thank our parents for their understanding the necessity of late hours, missed meals, and lowered grades.

Special recognition is extended to various members of the faculty and the student body. We thank Mr. Joseph Mrak for the constant use of his telephone and his sense of humor. Our thanks go to the office staffs for furnishing us with information and supplies. Special recognition also goes to Mrs. Elizabeth Sepiol, East Building custodian, for her extreme patience with us and her kind and encouraging words.

Mr. Frank Krause deserves our thanks for lending us his talents and encouragement as we produced our new style book, the first of its kind in the city. Mr. Krause is our representative from the publishers, Wm. J. Keller Inc.

Last, but certainly not least, we extend our most sincere and heartfelt thanks to our advisor, Mr. George Strimbu. He gave us much needed confidence, his time and energy, his understanding, and most of all, his way out sense of humor which frequently relieved the tensions caused by long hours of hard work and enabled us to go on working. Mrs. Strimbu also deserves our thanks for her understanding and the sacrifices she made during the production of this book.
